Hence, executive clemency justly may be evoked for these men, who at least him? fought for their country, and who, in Tibbsmany instances, convicted at a time | self, he can't stop until he talks him when feeling ran high and the national self into a haircut and a shampon judgment was disturbed, received excessive sentences.

However, it is urged that at this time the merits or demerits of individual cases are immaterial; that clemency should be sought on the basic proposition that failure to pardon convicted soldiers is to penalize patriotism and reward treason and

The draft dodger, the slacker, largely have escaped the just penalty their evil-doing invited; the "political" prisoners have been released by executive order; but three thousand men who served, in many instances, with distinction, still are held behind prison

For these is it not time to ask, and expect to receive, the mercy and clemency which may restore to lives of usefulness men who, though they may have violated some law of military requirement, yet faced the hazard of death in the service of their country?

They Want Mellon Plan

THE Literary Digest's great poll on at the end of the second week's tabulation: For, 339,579; against, 109,128 This is in the ratio of a little more than three to one in favor of the administration bill. Fifteen million ballots have been distributed but enough votes are in to indicate the trend of public sentiment with probable accuracy.

The votes of a few states, representative of the different sections of the country, are as follows: Massachusetts, for, 32,593, against, 4622; New York, for, 67,917, against, 13,978; Ohio, for, 42,277, against, 19,432; Mis souri, for, 1.237, against, 506; Kentucky, for, 3,459 against, 1,307; Texas, for, 14,040, against, 7,502; Maryland, for, 8,035, against, 1,897; Colorado, for, 3,510, against, 1,509; California, for, 10,534, against, 4,054.

Thus the indications are that the people of every section of country are strongly in favor of the tax reduction program carefully worked out by the secretary of the treasury, who has explained that to vote the proposed soldiers' bonus would be to prevent the adoption of any comprehensive scheme for lightening the general tax burden The evidence presented by Literary Digest's poll is likely to have seems as if it must convince those of our congressmen who have regarded the letters from home on this subject as mere propaganda, devised in the interest of the rich, that their view has been mistaken.

An early shipment of Ladies' Silk Frocks is now being shown in our Cloak Room. They represent the last word in fashion newness and show vividly the beauty and color that is typically spring. You will find models in printed crepe, plain georgette, made with the little touches that give them smartness. Specially priced at $16.50.

Colorful Sweaters

Spring is the sweaters' own season, so to speak. For spring typifies youth, gay cty and which version of the mode ex emplifies this better than a sweater with its bright multi colored hues? To possess one of these colored sweaters is to keep in step with the season. New modes in side fastenings, double-breast ed vest effect. Tuxedo and many other styles, at $5.75 to $13.75.

DRAGOONING WILL ALLIANCE BLOCK

HISTORY WON'T REPEAT ITSELF IN DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION IN NEW YORK THIS YEAR.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—An old-time Democrat te politician in Washington, a mar partially covered by insurance. June. "In 1868 Horatio Seymour," he started by an overheated gas tove. said "actually was dragooned into accepting the Democratic nomination. He added that it will take no dragooning to induce Mr. McAdoo, Mr. Under Miss Cora Stanley of Goshen, other man of active or latent ambi- shaw. tions to accept the gift of the conven-

It is only in passing, but let it be said that there are two Horatio Seymours living today. The Democratic candidate of 1868 had neither sons not daughters, but he had a nephew, Ho Mrs. Howard Logue living in Santa Monica, Cal.

If all the dire things had happened would happen to it if a man not of der. sure to remain in the United States. may happen in Cleveland had departed, was assuming all the functions of government of whatever kind, and that the bayonets of a military despotism already were flashing in the sun. The New Yorker declared that "Cresarism and centralization are that the sun that the bayonets of a milk supply—of much that the bayonets of a milk supply—of the supply that "Caesarism and centralization are undermining the foundations of our federal system and sweeping away all constitutional bulwarks."

In 1912 when Roosevelt entered the campaign for the nomination against Taft the ghost of Caesarism walked and many Republicans made declaration. The republic, however, still lives. The country always goes to the devil in a thousand different ways just before the delegates to the great naional convention start toward the meeting halls.

In the aftermath gossip of the meet ings of the Democratic national com mittee, there is to be found little to suggest that New York became the choice as the convention city because of a desire to check the ambitions of William G. McAdoo. Many of Mr. McAdoo's friends voted for New York feeling, they said, that their chief had a start on the road to victory and that even the Alfred E. Smith enthusiasm of the metropolis could not make for the favorite's defeat. In 1862 the Democratic convention was held in Chicago in what was called the Wigwam. The roof of the Wigwam leaked. The smallest hole in it was the skylight. There was a real wet and dry issue before the Democrats in that convention. All the delegates carried umbrellas to the hall. and a good many of them were com pelled to use them, for the heavens remained open for four days and poured their contents on the more or less de voted heads below. Abuse of the Day Soon Forgotten.

The New York delegation that year. with the sole exception of one man. was for the nomination of David Bennett Hill. The New Yorkers said things about Grover Cleveland, a citizen of their state, which made some of the delegates from other places think that the last word had been used in denunciation. However, although New York was strongly opposed to the nomination of Cleveland, he carried off the prize.

Whoever it is that shall win the prize in New York probably may rest assured that the delegates will forget all the bad things they may have said against him in the convention hall. After Cleveland had been called everything just this side of things constituting criminal libel, the New York Democrats went home and said it was all in the game, "but we wanted Hill." The party men from Good Ground, L. I., to Buffalo on the Lake. Tammanyites and all, worked for the election of Cleveland and elected him. When you hear anything about a candidate in national convention from a delegate who opposes that candidate's nomination, do not believe it. Generally speaking, after the convention the delegate himself will tell you that the heat of controversy made him

Things to Know About Our Service

Poor Nancy Hanks!

On February 12th we pay distinguished homage to Abraham Lincoln with all too little recognition of the magnificent mother who reared him.

Poor Nancy Hanks Lincoln died in her thirties, a tired, overburdened pioneer mother. Not one labor saving device did she own. She spun the wool for the clothes and sewed them by hand. She washed on a board, cooked over a fire that she tended herself, groped her way about the windowless cabin in the uncertain light of the fireplace. She died 43 years before her son was inaugurated.

Somewhere in America today, another young mother is rearing a future president. Her household labors are lifted by electrical appliances. Electricity washes the cothes, cooks the food, cleans the rugs, lights the home.

This mother will live to see her son inaugurated, her span of years lengthened by electrical service.
